DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3, 6, 7, and 10-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Melvin et al. (5,779,562) in view of Sasaki et al (6,620,059).

Regarding claims 1-3, Melvin discloses a golf ball comprising an inner core, outer core, inner cover, and outer cover (fig 1). The inner core has a maximum diameter of 35 mm and the outer core has a maximum diameter of 40 mm (col. 9). Therefore, the inner core may be up to 87.5% of the total volume of the core. The core layers have a compression from 30 to 85 (col. 5, lines 5-10). The core layers have a Shore C hardness from 30 to 90 (fig. 1). Melvin does not disclose a center core larger than 35 mm. However, Sasaki teaches a four piece golf ball comprising a center diameter from 25 to 40 mm (0.98 to 1.57 inches). Regarding claims 6 and 11, the core layers are made from rubber, a cross-linking agent, a filler, and organic peroxide (cols. 5-6). Regarding claim 7, the outer core has a diameter from 30 to 40 mm or 1.18 to 1.57 inches (col. 9). Regarding claim 10, the core layers have a Shore C hardness from 30 to 90 (fig. 1). Regarding claims 12 and 13, the inner cover layer has a Shore D hardness of at least 60 (fig. 1). Regarding claim 14 and 15, the inner cover layer has a thickness from 0.01 to 0.10 inch (col. 12, lines 30-31). Regarding claims 16 and 17, the outer cover layer has a Shore D hardness of 55 or less (fig. 1). Regarding claims 18 and 19, the outer cover layer has a thickness from 0.010 to 0.10 inch (col. 15, lines 5-6). Regarding claim 20, the inner cover layer may be made from an ethylene/acrylic acid copolymer or ethylene/methacrylic acid copolymer (col. 13, lines 30-35). The outer cover layer may be made from polyurethane (col. 18). Melvin overlaps the each every limitation claimed by applicant. One of ordinary skill in the art would have varied the ranges for enhanced properties.

Claims 21-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Melvin et al. (5,779,562). Melvin discloses a golf ball comprising an inner core, outer core, inner cover, and outer cover (fig 1). The inner core has a maximum diameter of 35 mm and the outer core has a maximum diameter of 40 mm (col. 9). Therefore, the inner core may be up to 87.5% of the total volume of the core. The core layers have a compression from 40 to 60 (col. 5, lines 5-10). The core layers have a Shore C hardness from 30-90. While Melvin does not disclose ranges identical to applicant's they do overlap. Therefor the golf ball in the instant invention is obvious over Melvin.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3,6, 7, and 10-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
